Excerpt from Sabina Zembra a Novel Catherine, get some calico - quick; and cut it into strips, and put them into cold water - look alive! For there was a bad scalp-wound ou the side of the young man s head, and she had to stanch the blood, and thereafter bind the cold, wet bandages round it. He lay in a heavy stupor, only that once he murmured the words cherry blossom, and, busy as she was, it seemed pathetic to her that he should babble 0 green fields. And then, when she had bandaged his head, she passed her hands lightly over his neck and back and shoulders, and pret ty well satisfied herself that there was no serious fracture or dis location; nevertheless, she was anxious that the surgeon should appear forthwith. She was moistening her patient s lips with cold water when he drew a long breath and slowly Opened his eyes. He looked at her with a kind of mild wonder, and then at the room around him then he seemed to recollect.
