Not illustrated. 1802 Excerpt: . . . had a power of acting on parts it came in contact with. This power has likewise been inserrred from some patients complaining of a soreness in their throats, immediately after the ejection of this black matter. To determine how far it was capable of acting on the healthy body, it was submitted to the following experiments: ill. In October, 1794, immediately after a quantity of black vomit was taken out of the stomach, after death, I applied some of it to my tongue and lips; to the latter it gave, a short time after application, the sensation of a fluid perceptibly acrid. This experiment was, the next day, several times repeated, with the fame result. 2d. A friend of mine applied it to his lips, and it produced a similar sensation; but would not affect his tongue. 3d. Finding the effects of this matter so different from what was expected, I began to believe that this discharge varied materially in point of activity, in different patients; but, on subjecting the black vomit, procured from a number of persons, to the fame test, it produced the fame effect. 4th. Two ounces of a fluid, resembling chocolate, was obtained, which was vomited a few hours before death. This was applied in the fame manner; but, there could not be perceived any difference in the result. 5th. In the beginning of October, 1799, Mr. Joseph Parker, an active and intrepid member of the board of health, obligingly presented me...
